Continuation Sheet (PTOL-303) 09/973.031

Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: In regards to Applicant's argument that the prior art does not teach the provision of a plurality of images on the album leaf, the examiner submits that it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include as many images, since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. Therefore, it would be obvious to modify the Fountain leaf to include as many images as desired by the end user to show additional information. After further review of the Fountain reference, the examiner notes that the Fountain reference is referring to "biographical attachment to photographs" and although the Fountain reference depicts the photograph of a single person, the photograph is capable of being of an organization or group represente with a biographical attachment. Randon House Dictionary defines "biographical" as pertaining to an account of a person, organization, society (which can include a plurality of images) or an animal. Therefore, the biographical record could be of a group of members or organization. It also would have been obvious to place any type of imaged indicia on the photograph ply, since it would only depend on the intended use of the assembly and the desired information to be displayed as stated in examiners final rejection. Therefore, the examiners rejection has been maintained.
